

March 3, 2015 - Arx Urban Capital is pleased to announce that its Founder, Benjie Moll, has been selected to serve on Boston Mayor Marty Walsh's ONEin3 Council.

"In Boston, we have the highest proportion of young adults of any major U.S city," said Mayor Walsh.

"The ONEin3 council selection serves as an annual reminder that this demographic comprises some of the city's most civic minded citizens. By making Boston a more inviting place to live, work and play, ONEin3 will help these innovators, opinion leaders and entrepreneurs move on to become civically engaged residents and neighbors."

The prestigious council serves as a direct link between young adults and city officials and is made up of 37 Boston residents from all of the city's neighborhoods. Supported by the Boston Redevelopment Authority, the council received more than 320 applications this year, showing a sustained interest in involvement and engagement among Boston's young adults. The council members will spend the next 12 months working on projects aimed at improving the lives of the city's 20-34 year old demographic.
